FRIDAY, SEPT. 28, 1917

The campaign for the second Liberty Loan of 1917 will be formally opened in Canfield at ten o'clock, A. M., Saturday, October 1, when Secretary of Treasury McAdoo will make his first address, raise a liberty loan flag on the public square, and sell the first liberty bond.

Gov. Cox Wednesday wired all draft boards in Ohio to withhold ordering 30 per cent of quota for movement scheduled for Oct. 3 until further advised by him. This means that the young men called for that date will not go to Chillicothe until some time later.

Senator La Follette addressed 3000 people in Toledo last Sunday night and a considerable number of people in the audience gave him to understand that his utterances on war matters are not popular in Ohio or anywhere else. But La Follette had his say just the same, contending that under the constitution he had a right to disagree with the government in time of war.

A Washington special says the Ohio Senators, in common with those from other states, are receiving numerous requests for their assistance in obtaining favorable action on appeals from district exemption boards. The Senators find themselves powerless. The following announcement from Provost Marshal General has put the quietus on senatorial influence: "The President directs the War Department to decline to discuss cases pending on appeal or to entertain any communications, suggestions or additional evidence or statements concerning them."

WILL NOT SEIZE HOME FOODS

Government Issues Emphatic Denial of Report That It Is Going to Commandeer the Housewife's Pantry.

There is no truth in a widely circulated statement that the Government expects to take food supplies from any family. Both the food administration and the department of agriculture join in a statement to counteract what seems to be a deliberate propaganda to the effect that the Government intends to take from every family all canned goods put up in excess of 100 quarts.

This is only one of the variations of the rumor, which has been widely circulated. Another statement is that the Government has been urging the canning, drying and preserving of fruits and vegetables so that they will be in a convenient form for the government to handle and transport when it takes them away from the people. Further elaboration is that these goods are to be taken away from the American homes and shipped to England.

In one instance a motorist stopped at a farmhouse to fill the radiator of his automobile. In the course of conversation he casually inquired whether the farmer's family was canning all the surplus fruits and vegetables in order to help conserve the food supply. He was informed that the farmer was not doing this because the government intended to take all the canned goods away except a small part of it actually needed by the family itself.

The authorities state emphatically that no such course has ever been contemplated by the government. On the contrary, both the department of agriculture and the food administration are strongly urging housewives to can and preserve, especially at this time, all surplus fruits and vegetables in order that the households themselves may have a cheap and plentiful supply of food.

MCKINLEY MEMORIAL DEDICATION

A Multitude of People Will Gather in Niles Next Week Friday

Joseph G. Butler, Jr., president of the National McKinley Birthplace Memorial association, has announced the complete list of speakers for the dedication of the Niles Memorial, October 5. William Howard Taft, former president, will deliver the principal address. It is likely that Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, will be present, representing the president's administration. In a letter to Mr. Butler, Mr. Baker states that he will make every effort to participate, and will do so unless prevented by affairs at Washington.

Other speakers include Joe Mitchell Chapple, editor of the National Magazine of Boston, Mass.; United States Senators Alton Pomeroy and Warren G. Harding, and Governor James M. Cox of Ohio. This list of speakers insures a program of notables scarcely equalled in the history of the Mahoning valley.

The parade will be an imposing feature of the occasion. The greatest crowd ever within the borders of Niles is assured.

High Prices and Sickness

Nobody can afford to be sick with the cost of living at the present high mark. It is cheaper and more sensible to prevent sickness than to pay doctor bills. Take Foley's Honey and Tar in time to check colds, stop coughs, and relieve croup before serious illness attacks weakened constitution. F. A. Morris, Canfield, adv.

Another thing we like about moving picture comies is that we don't have to laugh if we can't.

YOUNGSTOWN

It is really pitiful to see how slowly and laboriously some of the motorized fire-fighting equipment of the city climbs the Wick avenue hill. Years ago Dave Evans, driving a spanking pair of grays, used to shoot up that hill like a house afire, and now motor apparatus snails it.

Chief of police H. H. Hartenstein died unexpectedly last Saturday night. He had not been well for some time but his illness was not considered serious. The announcement of his death came as a great shock to his friends. His wife and two children survive. The funeral Tuesday was attended by many out of town officers. It looks now as though this city was going to be up against it for coal next winter, local dealers having scant supplies and little hope of orders being filled.

Iron and steel workers with a big increase in pay the first of October will be in clover knee deep.

Drug fiends have been plundering offices of doctors to get the dope they crave. Poor devils are there, sure enough.

Al Craver may make Mayor Thornton go a faster pace to secure re-election than he ever dreamed of. Al and his friends are not asleep at the switch and election day may evolve some surprises.

Thomas McDonald and Curtis Manchester for members of the board of education should be elected by acclamation. They will measure up to requirements.

Chlorine in the city water is about as pleasing to the palate as is the odor of the cat of the woods to the nostrils. But one must take his medicine and smile, darn you, smile.

The local campaign for the new Liberty Loan will be most vigorously prosecuted and this city will swing through with a buy of more than five million worth.

Paul Jones has resigned as assistant city collector to go with Hine, Kennedy & Manchester. Paul is all right in every way, all wool and a variety of colors.

An automobile driven by Clement Conway, aged 28, ran into a telephone pole at Logan avenue Wednesday night and Conway and Miss Madeline Casam, aged 19, was killed. A sister of the dead girl and two other occupants of the car were not much hurt.

Anna Taylor, aged 22, committed suicide last Saturday without known cause by swallowing carbolic acid.

The display of vegetables from war gardens for which the chamber of commerce paid cash premiums attracted much attention the past week.

The grand jury made a partial report of its work on Wednesday, returning a large number of indictments, quite a number of them being for stealing automobiles to joy ride and carrying concealed weapons.

SALEM

Two new cases of infantile paralysis developed the past week, making it necessary to postpone reopening the schools and other places where children are wont to congregate. A lot of folks seem to be careless about letting their children roam the streets notwithstanding the danger that lurks in such action.

Dr. Geo. Albright, Columbiana doctor, died in the city hospital last Friday, aged 65.

Most of the $17,000 subscribed to the Red Cross fund some weeks ago has been paid and people are ready to buy liberally of the new Liberty bond issue.

A company having large capital will engage largely in the building of houses which will be sold and rented. Just now it is mighty hard to find a house to rent within the city borders.

The ministerial association has arranged for evangelistic meetings to open in Lisbon Oct. 7, and it would seem that there is a good place to begin, it being charged that gambling games have been running open and above board.

Old High Cost still reigns supreme and about the only thing some of us will soon be able to buy in the way of a warm meal will be pepper sauce and crackers.

Al Canfield has on exhibition a pie pumpkin grown in his war garden that weighs 43 pounds. Al was not only a good mayor but seems to be equally good as a grower of pie pumpkins.

Frank Hole is some as a tomato grower, exhibiting one that weighs two pounds and five ounces, but he confesses confidentially to friends that this was the largest grown on his vines.

There will be a football eleven in this city the coming season that will make your eyes stick out when you see it in action. Nothing down Lisbon way will be able to hold a candle to it we're tellin' ye.

King Coal may be a merry old soul but there are a lot of us not in a merry or comfortable state of mind when we recall that our coal bins are empty and little show of having them filled before severe weather sets in.

The county commissioners have asked for an itemized statement of the expenses of the five-county tuberculosis sanitarium at Springfield lake. This sanitarium has had only 10 patients in the institution and the annual cost to the county for maintenance has been $10,000, which is considered high.

A foreigner was robbed and pushed from the Y. O. trestle near Washingtonville the other night. He was brought to this city and is being cared for by friends.

This draft district will furnish 47 men called to go to Chillicothe Oct. 3. A number from this neighborhood will accompany the corn boy's tour of Washington, New York and other eastern cities Dec. 3.

A government fish car was here last Friday night and fish were taken in cans and placed in neighboring streams and lakes, some going to Ellsworth and Greenford.

Mrs. Lucinda Templin, widow of Emmor Templin, died Tuesday night of cancer, aged 67. She leaves two brothers, Harry and John Hendricks, of this city. Funeral services Friday afternoon at 2 will be in charge of Rev. W. L. Swan, with burial in Hope cemetery.

The grand jury returned indictments against four Salemites: John Hart, who killed Frank Lease, was indicted for second degree murder. He will be tried first for insanity.

Ellsworth Grange Notes

Ellsworth Center Grange, No. 1857, met in regular session with Master E. J. Spencer in the chair. The following names were proposed for membership: William Keene, Austin Keene, Clarence B. May, Helen Hetrick. The Grange will have a lecture course for the winter season. The first number will be given Oct. 15. Initiation in first and second degree will be given by officers of Grange to all candidates gained during contest on Oct. 23. The secretary was instructed to send fraternal greetings to Brother Warren Manchester at Camp Sherman.

Stand by the Government

The constitution—our organic law—vests in congress the right to declare war—and congress has declared a state of war to exist.

The constitution makes the President commander-in-chief of the army and the navy, and the President is directing the war on land and sea.

The constitution gives to congress the right to levy taxes and to borrow money, and congress is doing both.

The President and congress were elected by the people and are responsible to the people; they speak for the people—the people have no other spokesmen. Acquiescence in the will of the people, expressed through their authorized representatives is "the first law of republics." There is no alternative but anarchy. Before the government acts discussion is proper; after action obedience is a duty.—W. J. Bryan.

BRAIN FOOD FOR THE ARMY

It was Napoleon who said that "an army marches upon its belly." We rise to remark that a Yankee army marches quite as much upon its brain.

The American soldier thinks, in order to fight, ergo—he must have brain fodder.

For the purpose of furnishing material for military thinking, a national organization has been formed to procure libraries for our army and navy, and the readers of The Enquirer are called upon to help.

There ever a generation to which there came so many beautiful opportunities to render service? We have heard people grumble because of the innumerable appeals made to them for money for the soldiers. It seemed to us a shame. What are we here in the world for, but to answer such appeals?

And there are so urgent and so convincing that it ought to make our hearts leap to be able to respond. We "stay-at-homes" can do so little towards winning this war, at best, that we ought to esteem it an inestimable privilege to be called upon to aid in every possible way. Everything depends upon our initial mental attitude.

If we start right; if we want to be useful; if we long to have a hand in the greatest enterprise in which humanity was ever engaged, we shall bless every solicitor who offers us a chance to do anything at all to help "make this world safe for democracy."

Who is not proud of having contributed to the Y. M. C. A. work and the Red Cross and the Belgian Relief and the French Orphans, etc., etc! As for ourselves, we can listen with comparative equality to people bragging about having money in a lot of big dividend-producing stocks and bonds, but we feel a sense of shame when they have invested in war schemes in which we have had no share.

Let us hear no grumbling at this new call, then, for money for reading matter for the army! A million dollars are wanted! We have it; let us give it with a joy and pride that are worthy of American citizens. Think of those noble soldier boys of ours sitting all day long in muddy trenches without a thing to read; those educated boys with minds alert to every word of thought that goes rolling round the world! It is intolerable! We should be disgraced! Every German regiment (think of it) when it took the field was equipped with a first class library. Their soldiers were fed upon Bismarck and Nietzsche, we presume. Let us feed our army upon Washington and Lincoln! Let us put into the field the best-read army that ever went to war.

Magazines are wanted; books are wanted; more wanted. Let us give all bounteously.—Enquirer.

A Valuable Health Hint

Foley Cathartic Tablets keep the bowels open and regular, the liver active and the stomach sweet. They cause no pain, nausea or griping. They relieve indigestion, sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach and like indispositions. Stout persons enjoy them, as they are so comforting and helpful. F. A. Morris—adv.

Maybe you also have noticed that when a man thinks he is monarch of all he surveys he is surveying away from home.
